Okay, it's not a new servic
certainly easier than ever before to find stuff for free and give your clutter to a good home rather than sending it to landfill. Freecycle is the global online network made up of over 4,000 local groups based on the brilliant idea of swapping
(as opposed to buying) things.
How it works is that anyone can join their local Freecycle group and,
as well as offering something,
you're free to scan the posts put up by other people in the area for anything you fancy – whether it's bunkbeds, baby clothes, or bikes –
you're sure to find everything you want and the kitchen sink. All that's left then is to arrange to pick up your finds. Freecycle started out in Arizona just four years ago and has spread to 4 million people today.

Men and women enjoying sex together
This best-selling manual taught men and women how to enjoy a happy and varied sex life. It contains a broad menu of heterosexual options, illustrated in graphic images. Were the cataloguers who placed the book in Φ mindful of the fact that it was originally published in 1972, the same year that Oxford University approved a scheme for men's colleges to admit women undergraduates? Co-education began in the University in 1974, the year that a copy was catalogued in Φ.

Bawdy by design
Illustrating books with outrageous themes was Beardsley's specialty, and his sketchingly perverse drawings made him notorious. Encouraged by Leonard Smithers to illustrate the poems of the Roman satirist Juvenal, Beardsley depicts the poet whipping a naked woman – a visual representation of the homoerotic verbal attacks on women in Juvenal's Satire 6. After converting to Roman Catholicism, Beardsley begged Smithers in a deathbed letter to destroy his 'obscene' drawings. Smithers published them instead.

Rare Books
Sexual violence
The Bodleian's Juvenal itself covers attacks on the 1890s artistic movement of homosexuality (caution and unwillingness for marriage) as 'anuses' in Elite' medieval textbook. This spiritual homosexuality, as opposed to male treatments of female figures and male for males, is a new treatment of female figures and male for males, is a new treatment of female figures and male for males, is a new treatment Street photography thrives in London today. It captures the movement, diversity and seeming incoherence of the most multicultural city in the world. Contemporary street photographers are attracted by the endless supply of curious incidents and unexpected juxtapositions that contribute so much to the capital's unique character.

However, street photography in London is hardly new. The first 'instantaneous' street scenes were taken in the early 1850s and by the 1880s candid street photographers were snapping Londoners unaware. The 20th century saw many photographers, famous and lesser-known, document life on London's streets for a variety of reasons.
This exhibition traces the practice of street photography in London from its earliest days to the present. It showcases some of the very best of British photography and explores the relationships between the images, the photographers and London's visual character.

Brixton as a Tree

Liam Roberts

Pen on paper

The inspiration for Brixton as a Tree came from first designing the map upside-down, bringing the south to the top. From here, Brixton's main arteries looked like branches of a sprawling tree. Adding pubs and cafés as nests or hanging fruit seemed natural after that.

回到1400年。當時非洲和歐洲一樣，都是自由的土地，但是貿易商品變成買賣奴隸，從失去自由再找回自由的過程充滿眼淚，這也是人類史上一大悲慘，我沒有看過一個博物館擠滿黑人老太太，博物館也讓人分享家人的故事。世界及歐洲的改變、美國的建國都有奴隸們的奉獻，他們稱自己做「奴隸」更好，因為「非洲」是他們西方人説的。

The Journey Toward Freedom
15th – 21st CENTURIES
African Americans have had an uneven history in this country. They came initially as forced labor to support the nation's economic development. But they brought with them a spirit that had a powerful impact. Their struggles for human rights forced the nation to rethink the meaning of freedom and equality. Both America and African Americans were profoundly shaped by this process. You are about to witness how these interactions unfolded over more than 400 years.

Music on the move

While the invention of the transistor radio in 1954 gave every teenager the opportunity of a mobile soundtrack, it would be the invention of the tape cassette player in the following decade that would eventually allow that mobile soundtrack to reflect the owner's personal taste. With the late-1970s invention of the lightweight Sony Walkman, barely larger than the tape cassette it played, you could even listen to your favourite music while jogging in the park.

It seemed 'small and light' was the way to go, with the pocket-sized digital players of the 21st century eventually dispensing with a physical sound carrier entirely in favour of the MP3 file.

But the radio-cassette players that will be forever associated with the hip-hop culture of New York City in the late 1970s-80s somewhat bucked this evolutionary trend: by the early 1980s they had grown very large indeed. A machine such as the Sharp GF-777, at almost 74 cm wide and weighing over 12 kilograms, was barely 'portable' at all. Here, size and sonic power, especially in the bass frequencies, were what mattered.

1 8-track cartridge

5 Cassette culture

'Cassette culture' is a term coined by Peter Manuel in the 1990s in relation to bootleg popular music. It describes the practices of music production and distribution brought about by the global adoption in the 1980s of the cassette cassette technology. Cheap to produce (and buy), cassettes could turn a profit based on relatively small number of sales. In West Africa, cassette culture saw the rise of many local production companies and, although CDs and more recently mp3s have now largely taken over,

6 The first commercial CD
1982

The first commercial compact disc, issued by Philips in 1982, was a 1979 recording of Chilean pianist Claudio Arrau performing Chopin waltzes. Most of the initial CD releases were of classical music, with 'The Visitors' by Abba the first pop release on the format. The arrival of the CD, with its durability and high sound quality, signalled the shift from analogue audio to digital had begun.

7 Commercial DATs

Factory Records of Manchester were quick to adopt the DAT (Digital Audio Tape) format for commercial releases, issuing the first DAT release in 1987, 'The Guitar and Other Machines' by the Durutti Column. In 1987, DAT failed to take off as a commercial medium though, despite its high audio quality. The DAT Walkman allowed the creation of broadcast-quality digital field recordings using a device no larger than a portable cassette player.

Stories of Displacement

Co-curated with refugees and forced migrants living in London and the Middle East, this exhibition explores the relationship between, and journeys of, objects, humans and animals 'in exile'. It traces what it means to be displaced through four themes: Out of Place, Being in Place, Talking Objects, and Challenging Views. Moving Objects draws together material objects, poems, visual pieces and archival materials selected, co-created, and/or analysed by people with refugee backgrounds. Many of these materials emerged through object handling, craft, writing and photography workshops in cities and camps including Beirut and Baddawi camp (Lebanon); London (UK); and Jerash, Talbieh camp and Zarqaa (Jordan).

The exhibition builds upon interdisciplinary, collaborative and participatory research projects that involve working closely with communities who are simultaneously experiencing and responding to displacement.

The exhibition's title – Moving Objects - reflects both the 'migration' of diverse objects across time and space, and the extent to which objects and artefacts can 'move us', inviting, demanding and requiring different forms of emotional and political engagement with questions of displacement.

This exhibition is produced by UCL Culture and funded through the Centre for Critical Heritage Studies Small Grants Scheme, the UCL Grand Challenges Programme, and the Department of Geography. It draws upon two UCL-based research projects which are examining different facets of displacement in Lebanon, Jordan and the UK - Forced Displacement and Cultural Interventions (ES/P003818/1) and Local Community Responses to Displacement from Syria ('Refugee Hosts', AH/P005438/1) - and which are supported by the ESRC and AHRC through the Global Challenges Research Fund.

The Power of Literature

那我們現在算是訓練還是磨練？

你的一天，會看到多少文字？

あなたは一日にどれくらいの文字を読むだろうか。

How much reading do you do on an average day?

一睜眼，你閱讀報紙或滑滑網路新聞，再瞄一下朋友轉貼的文章。出門上班上課，你穿越無數廣告招牌的誘人標語。晚餐，你在商店街聽見流行歌曲，餐廳門口褪色的春聯有吉祥語，競選宣傳車路過，候選人用擴音器喊的口號很激情。回到家，爸爸興沖沖講了一則手機看來的諧音笑話。你覺得不好笑，不過突然想起看過一部電影也有個愛講冷笑話的老爹，所以嘴角還是微微上揚。

這只是普通的一天。

如果你仔細回想，就會發現自己沉浸在大量的文字裡——很多，是寫作者精心修飾調度，不一定都稱為文學家，但其實都用了千百年來發展出來的文學技巧：雙關、押韻、反覆、對比、聯想……。透過口耳相傳、大眾媒體和教育體系，滲透到人們的日常生活——人類正置身最「文學」的一個時代。

目を開けば新聞やインターネット上のニュースを読み、友人が投稿するSNSにも目を通すことだろう。そして、あまたのキャッチコピー、店の看板をくぐり抜けて、職場や学校へと向かう。夕食どき、通りかかった店から流行歌が流れてくる。店の戸口には色あせた春聯が貼られている。そこを選挙カーが走り抜け、候補者は拡声器越しに大声でスローガンを叫ぶ。帰宅すると、父がスマホで読んだダジャレをうれしげに話す。つまらないと思いつつも、ふと、前に観た映画にも寒いジョークを飛ばすのが好きな父親がいたのを思い出した。そして、やっぱりほほえんでしまう。

これはありふれた一日だ。

細かく振り返れば、日々、自分が大量の文字の中に浸っていることに気付く。これらの文字は、物書きの手で丹念に飾り付けられ、整えられたものだ。彼らの全員が文学者とは限らない。でも、人類が数千年をかけて発展させてきた文学的技巧――掛詞、押韻、反復、対比、連想などを使いこなす。伝承やマスメディア、教育体制を通じて、文学は人々の暮らしにすっかり浸透している――私たちは今まさに、最も「文学的」な時代を生きているのだ。

You began each day reading the newspaper or a favorite news website and then peruse the latest posts by social-media friends and contacts. On the way to work or school, you are greeted by a steady barrage of slick advertisements and other messages. In the evening, pop music wafts through the air as you do some shopping. You see a faded New Year's couplet clinging tenaciously to a restaurant doorway. A van blaring a candidate's campaign messages over its loudspeakers passes by. Back home, your father eagerly shares some of the jokes and memes making the rounds on the Internet. Although you fail to see the humor, the scene reminds you of a movie with a father figure who loved cracking deadpan jokes, so you give a supportive smile.

This is just an average day!

Upon closer consideration, you will surely find that words are part and parcel of everyday life. A constant stream of messages, purposefully written, refined, and packaged, finds its way to you every day of the year. Although not necessarily professionally trained, these authors use literary techniques such as ambiguity, chiasmus, repetition, contrast, and association that are deeply rooted in the human experience. Media and public education have spun the written word into the fabric of everyday life. We truly live in the most 'literary' of times.

「不，我不懂文學。那太困難啦！」

「いや、文学なんて分からない。難しすぎるよ。」

"No, I don't understand literature. It's beyond me."

其實，即使是最偉大的作家，也是從生活世界開始創作。最初，寫字是為了「紀錄」，記下生計的需要和個人的想法，傳達給他人。就像便條紙上的筆記，或者社群網站分享的心情。接著，人們發現寫作本身的「遊戲」性質，一件事情，可以有不同寫法，可以玩弄韻律、改變組合，讓同樣的內容更有感。於是，文學開始產生樂趣，感受同樣樂趣的人就有了「共鳴」。當人們被文學作品感動而改變想法，也會發生「行動」。就像看到一則令人激昂的社會事件，會想要倡議、投票或加入討論一樣。隨著時間演進，累積了越來越多的文學作品，其中最耐人尋味的、不斷被傳承為整個社會的集體記憶，每個世代的新作家，都在這些記憶的基礎上創新，讓集體記憶庫更加豐富。這就是「文學史」——屬於臺灣的記憶庫，當然就是「臺灣文學史」。

那些發亮的名字和作品，構成了臺灣文學耀眼的星圖。

実際は、どんなに偉大な作家でも、創作の出発点は生活の中にある。そもそも人々が字を書き始めたのは「記録」をするためだった。生活に必要な物事や自分の考えを記録し、他者に伝える。ちょうど、ふせんにメモを残したり、今の気持ちをSNSでシェアしたりするみたいに。次に、人々は文章を書くこと自体の「遊び」の性質に気付き始めた。一つの事柄について違う書き方ができるし、韻律で遊んでみたり、言葉の組み合わせを変えたりすることで、同じ内容でもより味わい深い文章にすることができる。そのうちに、文学には好みが生じた。同じ好みを持つ人たちは「共鳴」し合うようになった。人が文学作品に心を動かされて考えを変えるとき、それは「行動」へと派生する。社会を騒然とさせるような出来事が起こると、募金や投票をしたい、あるいは議論に加わりたいと思うのと同じように。歴史の移り変わりとともに、文学作品はますます蓄積されていった。社会全体の集合的記憶として受け継がれてきた。そして、各世代の新しい作家たちはこれらの記憶を土台として、より革新的な作品を生み出すことで、人々の記憶倉庫をより豊かにしてきた。これこそが「台湾文学史」だ。

これら数々の作家と作品は、台湾文学という星図の上で光り輝いている。

雲豹的頭蝨家族

兩位魯凱族兄弟為了尋找更寬闊的生活空間，在雲豹的幫助下，找到一塊山明水淨、易守難攻的好地方—古茶布安。於是族人一同遷居至此，正是今日的舊好茶部落。魯凱族人在此逐漸壯大時，遭鄰近部落攻擊，但在雲豹的守衛下，族人安全無恙。當雲豹逐漸老去後，族人覺得雲豹不應再負擔狩獵、守衛工作，應該回到故鄉，便決定將牠送回山中食物充足之處，鄭重地告別。自此，魯凱族人不但不會去傷害雲豹，還把自己當成雲豹的民族，以雲豹為尊。

於是，我們一起走到了這裡。

數百年間，臺灣經歷一波波外來文化的衝擊，並吸納這些新元素，長出了獨特的姿態。如同岩層一般，堆疊累積的文學史，有如星星般的閃耀。那是臺灣人的生活、情感、夢想與才華。新的作家寫下新的作品，持續傳承這座島嶼的文學意志，轉化成為未來的養分。文學平時是安靜的，然而，只要每一代人都繼續把心血貫注到文字，我們永遠都能充滿期待。

一動手，文學就開始了。

ようやく、私たちはここまでたどり着いた。

数百年間、台湾は外来文化の波が押し寄せるたびに、そこから新しい要素を内面化して独自の姿を形作ってきた。地層のように積み重ねられてきた台湾文学史の中には、星々がきらめいている。この輝きは台湾人の人生であり、感情であり、夢と才能だ。新たな作家が新たな作品を生み出していく。彼らもまた島嶼に抱かれた文学の意志を受け継ぎ、未来への糧とする。普段の文学は穏やかな姿をしている。けれども、それぞれの世代がテキストに心血を注ぎ続ける限り、私たちはいつまでも新しい作品の誕生に期待することができる。

書き出せば、文学が始まる。

So, we've arrived together at this point in time.

The multiple waves of cultural influence that have washed over Taiwanese shores across centuries have been absorbed and reflected in Taiwan's distinctly unique character. Taiwan's willfully laid strata of creative writing form a brilliant literary history that epitomizes our lives, our passions, our dreams, and our capabilities. As in the past, new waves will surely come, continuing the process of change in our literary landscape and leaving deposits of new literary inspiration in their wake. Literature is normally quiet. However, as long as each new generation of authors pours its essence into new creative efforts, we will continue to have hope.

When you act, literature responds.
